Ambition and Aspiration for all

Famous Sports People		Because I love PE, when I am older, I could be…
	Marcus Rashford is a professional footballer who has played for England and Manchester United. He has also campaigned to help children and families who struggle to afford food and has used his success to make a positive difference to others.	Professional Athlete - Compete in sport at a professional level, such as a footballer, swimmer, gymnast or runner. Sports Coach- Help people learn new skills, improve their performance and enjoy taking part in sport. Sports Physiotherapist- Help athletes recover from injuries and develop exercises to keep their bodies strong and healthy. Sports Journalist- Write about or report on sporting events, interviewing athletes and sharing exciting stories with fans. Sports Scientist- Use science to understand how the body works during exercise and help athletes improve their performance.
	Jessica Ennis-Hill won an Olympic gold medal in the heptathlon at London 2012 and became one of Britain's most successful athletes. She overcame significant injuries during her career and returned to compete at the highest level.
	Mo Farah is a four-time Olympic champion who won gold medals in the 5,000m and 10,000m at the 2012 and 2016 Olympics. He became one of the world's most successful long-distance runners through years of dedication and training.
	Dina Asher-Smith is a world champion sprinter who has won medals at the Olympic Games and World Championships. She began competing internationally as a teenager and has become one of Britain's leading athletes.
	Lionel Messi is an Argentine footballer who has won the World Cup, the Copa América and numerous domestic and European trophies. He is widely regarded as one of the greatest footballers of his generation and is known for his exceptional skill, creativity and determination.	