Ambition and Aspiration for all

Famous People of Faith		Because I love RE, when I am older, I could be…
	Corrie Ten Boom- During World War II in the Netherlands, Corrie and her family risked their lives to help Jewish people to safety by hiding them in a secret room behind her bedroom wall. Her life story demonstrates courage, deep trust in God, and the power of forgiveness even in the darkest times. She taught that anyone can help to make a difference in the world.	RE Teacher – An RE teacher teaches about different religions, beliefs and worldviews. Chaplain – A member of the Chrisitan clergy who does religious work in a place such as a hospital, school or prison. Youth and Community Worker – works with children and young people to help them feel safe and learn new life skills. Clergy/Religious Leader – people who lead religious services, such as a vicar. Charity Fundraiser/Campaigner – helps raise awareness of and donations for charities, campaigns and good causes.
	Ibtihaj Muhammad- The first Muslim American woman to compete in the Olympics while wearing a hijab. Growing up without seeing girls who looked like her in books, she wrote children's books like The Proudest Blue and The Kindest Red to help Muslim children feel proud and to teach all children the importance of accepting differences. Mattel created the first-ever hijab-wearing Barbie doll modelled in her likeness.
	Ravi Singh- In 1999, he saw news footage of refugees fleeing the war in Kosovo and decided to help immediately, guided by the Sikh core value of seva (selfless service). He set up the Khalsa Aid charity to help those affected by wars and natural disasters, offering help to anyone in need regardless of their race, religion, or background.
